CLASS DESCRIPTION AND OBJECTIVES

The class will consist of a close reading of Seneca’s Apocolocyntosis, one of the all-time most brilliant example of political pamphlet. Introductory classes will deal with issues related to the biography of the author and his historical context as well as the genre of the Satyrina Menippae; larger issues as the cultural and literary background of the Julio-Claudian age will be considered as well, with appropriate references to the historical works of Tacitus and Suetonius. The core of the class, however, will be the direct reading of the text, the study of its linguistic peculiarities and the analysis of intertextual relations with its models.

Attendance is mandatory: more than one unexcused class absence will result in a deduction from the participation portion of the course grade. Students will be expected to translate when called upon, as well as participate in class discussions, raising pertinent and interesting points. In this regard, it is necessary to read and translate primary readings prior to come to class; for each relevant subject addressed in class, in addition, I will suggest one or more secondary sources, whose reading is useful to get prepared for the subsequent discussion.

This class is intended to:
- Gain an understanding of Seneca’s work, on the linguistic, stylistic and literary ground;
- Improve students’ translation and analysis skills;
- Enhance familiarity with the culture and politics of the Claudian age.

RECOMMENDED TEXTS

ATTENDANCE, POLICIES, AND ACCOMMODATIONS FOR STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES

Requirements for class attendance and make-up exams, assignments, and other work in this course are consistent with university policies that can be found in the online catalog at: https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/attendance.aspx.

You are required to do your own work at all times and to abide by the university’s Honor Pledge: http://www.dso.ufl.edu/sccr/process/student-conduct-honor-code/.
Students requesting classroom accommodation must first register with the Dean of Students Office. The Dean of Students Office will provide documentation to the student who must then provide this documentation to the Instructor when requesting accommodation.

GRADE

Your grading will be based, first of all, on your perfect class attendance (15%) plus your active participation in the proposed discussions (25%): you are expected to arrive on time and be prepared to engage in an informed and critical discussion, based on the suggested secondary readings. Three cumulative exams (20% + 20% + 20%) will evaluate your understanding of Seneca’s language and style, as well as your familiarity with the larger issues discussed during the previous weeks. In each exam will be two short texts to translate (from your assignment readings), accompanied by questionnaires about issues of language, style and literary interpretation discussed in previous classes.

Participation: 40% (Attendance: 15% + active participation in the discussion: 25%)
I exam: 20% (on materials from weeks 1-5)
II exam: 20% (on materials from weeks 6-10)
III exam: 20% (on materials from weeks 11-15)
