

1. LAT 1101: Beginning Latin 2

Jack Orcés, Department of Classics, 123 Dauer Hall, 352-392-2075, jack.orces@ufl.edu

2. Office Hours:

MWF Period 5 (11:45 a.m. - 12:35 p.m.) in Dauer 125E

3. Course Objectives:

By the end of this course, you will be able to recognize inflectional patterns of Latin and use different declensions and conjugations to form sentences, identify and analyze advanced syntax, describe grammatical, syntactic, and morphological mechanisms of Latin and English, and translate complex sentences from Latin to English or vice versa. Beyond this, you will be able to examine your own learning methods and how you approach translation, formulate how the skills you learned can transfer to other classes, majors, or goals, and evaluate the learning of Latin in the current era.

4. Course Description:

This is the second course of a three-part beginning series in Latin at the University of Florida. Students will continue to build a foundation for the study of Latin literature through instruction in Latin vocabulary, morphology, and syntax in chapters 15-27 of Wheelock's Latin. They will concurrently improve their Latin vocabulary, grammar, and syntax skills, while exploring Latin mythology and culture expressed through the original literature. Students will leave this class with an eye for the detail of the language, and the preparation to move on and succeed in Beginning Latin 3.
